Brit takeover of the week

Sam Faiers & Luisa Zissman

If there's one thing us Brits do best, it's taking over Hollywood – which is precisely what former CBB pals Sam Faiers and Luisa Zissman have been getting up to!

The duo shopped, cruised the streets in a Bentley, lapped up the Californian sun and posed in bikinis, making sure to capture it all in a string of glam snaps on Instagram.

Looking good, ladies! We're not in the least bit jealous. Really. ■

KELLY 'Move on David!'

The model dismisses her ex-fiancé's taunts

After their stormy relationship finally came to an end in December, it looked as if Kelly Brook and David McIntosh had at last put their differences aside and moved on. So she was livid last week when her ex-fiancé posted a screenshot of phone messages from her, with the caption, "@IAMKELLYBROOK stop insulting the woman I'm with! People need to see u for how u are a nasty bitter woman."

In the WhatsApp chat, Kelly, 35, appeared to slate a mystery girl, writing, "The weave? The dress? Big nose, no lips. And actually fat. As long as she is buying you shit and you have a place to stay, all can be overlooked. Lol."

It was later claimed that Kelly's comments were aimed at David's new Australian girlfriend, Juliet Bakos, who he has been dating for the past six weeks.

Kelly went on to label Ex On The Beach star Jess Impiazzi "a slut" and Big Brother's Aisleyne Horgan-Wallace "a skank". Both had flings with David last year during breaks from Kelly.

The model quickly hit back at 29-year-old David's claim that she's bitter.

"Beyond Happy with all the positive things happening in my life right now. Everyone can see that. Not going to let certain people drag me down," she tweeted. "I am focused on what's happening in my life right now and not dwelling on the choices I made in 2014. I've moved on so should everyone else."

Kelly and the CBB star first called time on their relationship in October last year, before reuniting and breaking up several times. David was spotted on dates with both Jess and Aisleyne, but Kelly wasn't happy – even going so far as to confront Jess, 25, on the phone about her relationship with him.

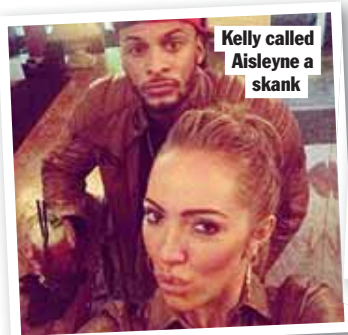

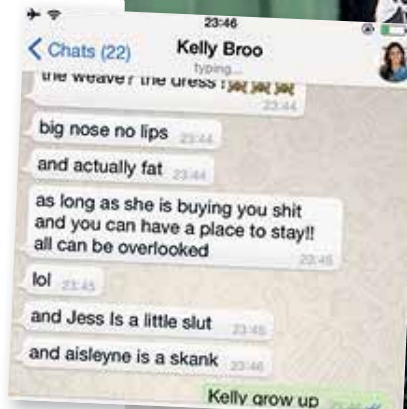

Jess revealed, "She went, 'Are you and David dating? Are you together? What's going on?' I said, 'Kelly there's no need to try and upset me. I'm not in love with the guy.' She said, 'Let's hope you're not lying to me like all the other sluts. Nice talking to you Jess. Bye.'"

Aisleyne, 35, responded to actress Kelly's harsh words by saying, "Kelly is a nice girl. As far as I'm concerned, as a woman, I completely understand. I would have said a lot worse!"

Since the row, Kelly is trying to stay positive, despite being slated for her performance in new US sitcom One Big Happy.

We hope it works out, Kel! ■

Rihanna 'I don't have time for a man!'

The singer admits she's too busy for romance

After weeks of speculation, Rihanna has dismissed rumours that she's dating Leonardo DiCaprio – admitting her heavy workload is a big obstacle when it comes to finding love.

When questioned about her fling with the Hollywood A-lister, she hinted that online rumours were wide of the mark and said, "Stay off the blogs – they will screw you every time."

She went on to talk about what she looks for in a man, explaining, "Someone who could tolerate my schedule. Someone man enough to do that and not get scared because I don't have a lot of time to offer."

Showing her strong side, she added, "The more we respect ourselves, the more men will respect us. I have both sides to me and I think most women do. We are strong, but we are very vulnerable as well. I get very fierce and passionate about my career and about my family."

She's denied dating Leo

Ri-Ri needs a guy who accepts her schedule

Rihanna was linked to 40-year-old Leo after they were spotted together at the Playboy Mansion in January. The actor was among those who gathered to celebrate her 27th birthday the following month, where they packed on the PDAs – even kissing on the dancefloor.

But with Rihanna's hectic schedule, which has seen her travel the globe in recent months promoting her single FourFiveSeconds and her soundtrack album for new animated movie Home, the romance seems to have fizzled out.

Plenty more fish in the sea, Ri-Ri! ■

IS KEL'S US DREAM OVER?

It looks as if Kelly Brook's big acting dream may be dashed before it's barely begun!

Her new US sitcom One Big Happy has been slammed by critics, who branded it "dimwitted", "dumb" and "irritating" after it premiered last week.

She bares all in One Big Happy

The New York Times even labelled the show "an intelligence-insulting sitcom".

Critics were equally cutting about Kelly's "one-note" performance as free-spirited British girl Prudence.

Entertainment Weekly said, "Brook [is] more known for her modelling than her acting – and that shows. Brook turns Prudence into an overly bubbly, one-dimensional character." The critic said the show would be "stronger and more intriguing" without her.

The first reviews are no doubt upsetting for Kelly, who moved to LA last year to focus on acting and soon landed the "amazing" part on Ellen DeGeneres' sitcom.

Doing her best to ignore the critics, Kelly tweeted to her fans, "There's a saying 'critics are the ones that know the way, but can't drive the car' as much as we need them and their job is to analyze, it's really you people that matter. Despite the years of criticism I've had I never lose sight of that." ■

Her new US sitcom has been panned

Kim's been having regular check ups...

Kim Kardashian has revealed that her attempts to get pregnant again are proving so difficult, she and Kanye West “might have to try a surrogate”.

While talking to her family about her fertility problems, the 34-year-old said, “I’m having sex like 500 times a day. It’s so frustrating, I’m exhausted and... I think I’m forcing it.”

In her bid for baby number two, Kim has tried hypnotherapy to ease her pregnancy anxiety and has also thought about IVF.

But she’s been left so stressed and exhausted from doing everything by the book to fall pregnant, that she’s decided to change tack – and hopes that being less uptight will prove the key to conceiving.

KIM’S BABY HEARTACHE

‘WE’LL HAVE TO TRY SURROGACY’

She’s considering a last resort to have baby number two

Elton and Posh hit back at ‘synthetic’ baby claims

Elton John hit out at designers Domenico Dolce and Stefano Gabbana after they said in an interview, “We oppose gay adoptions. The only family is the traditional one. I call children of chemistry, synthetic children. Rented uterus, semen chosen from a catalogue.”

Elton, 67, who has two sons born to a surrogate with husband David Furnish, responded angrily, “How dare you refer to my beautiful children as ‘synthetic’. Your archaic thinking is out of step with the times, just like your fashions. I shall never wear Dolce & Gabbana ever again #BoycottDolceGabbana.”

Victoria Beckham tweeted her support, “Sending love to Elton David Zachary Elijah & all the beautiful IVF babies x vb.” Meanwhile Courtney Love said, “Just round up all my Dolce & Gabbana pieces. I want to burn them.” ■

...and has tried everything to boost her chances

"There's a list of things you shouldn't be doing and I was perfect for eight to ten months, and now I don't understand," she explained.

"I'm going to do everything I want to do, and hopefully I will get pregnant doing all the wrong things. I'm over trying, overthinking it, hence why I dyed my hair blonde."

And it seems Kim's aware that her hectic work schedule and constant jetsetting with her rapper husband, 37, may be harming her chances of falling pregnant.

We spoke to Dr Marilyn Glenville, author of Getting Pregnant Faster, who explained, "A hectic lifestyle of travel, including changes in time zones, stress, eating at irregular times and strict exercise can lower fertility."

She added, "Fertility decreases with age so it becomes even more important nearing the age of 35 when there is a more dramatic decrease, to make sure that we take the time to reduce stress."

It sounds as if Kim's high-fashion wardrobe could well be a fertility issue, too. Dr Glenville goes on to add that women trying to conceive should "make sure that clothes are not restricting vital reproductive organs."

A lover of latex and skintight outfits, Kim is also fond of her waist trainer – posting a pic of herself wearing the corset on 17 March.

Kim was open about how hard it was to fall pregnant with her first child, North, who is now 20 months old. But despite her efforts to conceive again, pals say that for Kim one upside of surrogacy would be not having to stress about her weight gain.

An insider explains, "Kim put on around 55 pounds when she was carrying North and she hated how it made her feel. She isn't looking forward to that part of pregnancy again." ■

Kylie & Tyga take the next step

Rapper Tyga denied he was dating Kylie Jenner and insisted she was just a good friend, but last week the 25-year-old did an about-turn – taking to Instagram to confirm his feelings for the 17-year-old reality star.

Tyga posted a picture of Kylie along with the caption, "Certain things catch your eye, but only few capture the heart."

Meanwhile Kylie, who was visiting London when her boyfriend posted the snap, has been spotted wearing a ring on her wedding finger – suggesting that their relationship could be moving fast.

"Kylie and Tyga are crazy about each other and now they're finally ready to let the world know how they feel," an insider tells Star.

"Despite other people's disapproval, Tyga posted this picture to prove how committed he is to Kylie. He doesn't care what anyone else thinks."

Whisperings of a romance between Kylie and Tyga have been swirling since the dad-of-one split from his fiancée Blac Chyna, 26, in August last year. But after receiving criticism over their eight-year age gap, Tyga insisted that he and Kylie had been close friends for years.

In recent months, Kylie has apparently bought her own $2.7 million mansion after deciding she was ready to move out of momager Kris Jenner's home – and is now rumoured to be moving into the plush Californian condo with Tyga. ■

KRIS DUMPS COREY!

It looked like she'd found love again following the breakdown of her marriage to Bruce Jenner, but Kris Jenner has secretly dumped her toyboy lover, Corey Gamble.

The pair had been dating since October last year, but Kris, 59, apparently "lost interest" in Corey, 35, after his ex-wife, Sheree Buchanan, claimed he didn't have good intentions.

A source tells Star, "Kris heard that Corey was after her money, and she started to see him as a liability.

"Corey was only ever a rebound for her. She was using him for sex. He gave her what she needed at the time, but it was too soon after Bruce to be anything serious."

And since their split Kris is apparently already moving on! "Kris is always looking for something bigger and better. She wants to upgrade," the insider adds.

That told you, Corey! ■

SCOTT'S REHAB STINT

'I'm doing this for my family'

Kourt's relief as he finally deals with his demons

He's been on a downward spiral of drinking and partying for years, but Scott Disick finally went into rehab last week – and vowed to get back on the straight and narrow for his family.

Following a wild bender in Atlantic City, the 31-year-old checked into a clinic in Costa Rica to treat his alcohol addiction, admitting, "I realise my issues are bigger than me and I'm ready to truly remedy this struggle [that] I continue to battle."

Scott's decision to sober up has come as a huge relief to his long-suffering partner Kourtney Kardashian, 35, who has been on the verge of leaving him time and again over his out-of-control partying. But after months of benders, trashing hotel rooms and turning up drunk to club PAs, the father-of-three is finally getting the help he needs for the sake of Kourt and their kids, five-year-old son Mason, two-year-old Penelope and four-month-old Reign.

A source says, "So many people have tried to help him before, but it made no difference until he was ready to help himself.

It was his choice to go to rehab and he told Kourtney that he loves her and the kids too much to not get help.

"He wants to make sure that he is around to watch the kids grow up."

Scott's stint at the Rythmia Life Advancement Center is believed to be his fourth in rehab, although he has only lasted a few days in treatment previously. While at Rythmia, he will try a more natural method of rehabilitation – namely the "Iboga treatment", which uses an African shrub herbal treatment to help users examine what triggers their addictions.

Scott's excessive drinking has been a strain on his and Kourtney's relationship for years, with her whole family getting involved in a bid to help him.

He has gone through periods of sobriety, but losing his mother Bonnie in October 2013, and his father Jeffrey just three months later, triggered another unstable year for Scott.

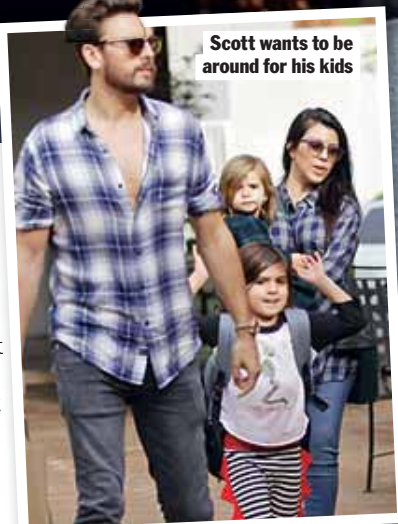

Last June, he was hospitalised for alcohol poisoning, admitting, "I realise how much is at stake and it's scary."

At the time, a desperate Kourtney pleaded for him to grow up, saying, "Sometimes I'd rather be alone. I have been doing this for years... I can't tolerate it."

Let's hope this latest rehab stay is successful. ■

SCOTT'S HARD PARTYING YEARS

JUNE 2010 When son Mason is just five months old, Kourt leaves Scott after a booze-fuelled night in Miami ends in him punching a mirror and going to hospital.

JUNE 2012 Weeks before the birth of daughter Penelope, Scott starts partying again and he and Kourt turn to therapy to keep their relationship intact.

DECEMBER 2013 Scott's drinking gets worse after the death of his mum, and he's seen staggering about at a Kanye West gig in Texas. Kourt begs him to go to rehab.

JUNE 2014 While filming Kourtney & Khloé Take The Hamptons, Scott is hospitalised for alcohol poisoning. He later seeks counselling with a pastor and does a short stint in rehab.

JANUARY 2015 Weeks after third child Reign is born, Scott goes on another huge bender – trashing a luxury hotel room in Aspen and then going wild in Vegas.

FEBRUARY 2015 Turns up over four hours late and seemingly out of it to a Manchester gig, then cancels his other UK appearances.

'We forget Vicky was even here!'

Charlotte Crosby, Kyle Christie and Nathan Henry reveal why they're not missing their old Geordie Shore pal...

To celebrate the new series of Geordie Shore, we were invited to jump on a party bus with the cast – and it was just as crazy as you'd imagine!

With a glass of prosecco in hand, we sit down with Charlotte Crosby, 24, Kyle Christie, 22, and newbie Nathan Henry, 23, to talk break-ups and bed-wetting...

Hi guys! What can we expect from the new series?

Nathan: Arguments, make-ups, break-ups, sexual acts, fights, a food fight. Crazy shit, basically!

Do you guys miss Vicky Pattison?

Charlotte: Vicky will be missed on the show as she is such a huge character. She's witty, intelligent and brilliant with some of the things she says. But in terms of filming the show and us missing her, it's so fast-paced, you kind of forget she was even there.

Kyle: It's true, though!

How do the newbies compare to the originals?

C: As a show, everyone needs to bring something different. You've got Gary the male slag, Scott is an absolute radge, James is a gentleman, Kyle is a lad but also very loyal, Holly is the sexy one, Marnie is the dramatic one, Vicky was always the bitch and I was the funny one.

K: I love how you got that in there about Vicky!

C: Vicky was the bitch, everyone knows that. But then Chloe came in and stepped into the funny role, which is my thing, so I hated her at first. I was jealous and territorial.

The gang gear up for the #GeordieParty

Nathan and Kyle spill the goss

K: She was like a lioness walking back and forward. It was like The Lion King!

Is there any romance in the air for Chloe and Scott?

N: It wasn't really romance, it was a fk.

K: Scott could never do romance because he only thinks about himself.

Charlotte, how are you and your ex, Gaz, this series?

C: We're the best we've ever been, it's weird. I just want to hate him.

Is it nice to see him tamed by his girlfriend, Lillie Lexie Gregg?

K: It is. You [Charlotte] obviously don't like that, but I like it.

C: I don't mind! I'm happy that Gary has found a lovely girl and isn't still acting like a 15-year-old boy who's just discovered how to wank. I'm not pissed off at all. My boyfriend Mitch is my soulmate. I'm stuck with him forever now – I've got his name tattooed on my bloody arm!

Charlotte subtly announces the start of the new series

How does Gaz's girlfriend compare to the Geordie Shore girls?

C: She's sophisticated. A proper lady.

K: Fashionable...

C: Fking fashionable?! I'm fashionable! You wouldn't see her sitting here with no shoes on, with her extensions hanging out, having her armpits smell. I weed the bed last night and haven't showered. That wouldn't be her kind of style!

Kyle, how are you and Holly?

K: It's the hardest relationship I've ever had because the house is so stressful, everything you do is ten-times magnified. Plus I've got all her mates watching us constantly.

C: He's referring to me there.

K: Every time Holly and me argue, everyone takes her side.

Can you see yourself settling down with her?

K: No. It was a big enough leap for us to get in a bloody relationship!

What do you think of Holly's luscious lips?

C: He likes them round his cock!

K: Yeah, I do! ■

Robyn Morris

Nathan says the new series is "crazy"

Kyle finds the house stressful

'Me and Kyle are always naked!'

Holly Hagan, 22, spills on her relationship with co-star Kyle and predicts who'll be the next one to leave the show...

Hi Holly! How are you and Kyle getting on this series?

When we went back in, we spent so much time together we were sick of the sight of each other! We weren't boyfriend and girlfriend and everyone was asking why. It made me think, "Is there a reason we're not boyfriend and girlfriend?" It was hard to deal with.

Are you boyfriend and girlfriend now?

Yeah, we're good at the minute.

Is it hard having an on-screen relationship?

I'm a jealous person and he's got girls throwing themselves at him. I think, "Can I trust him?" A relationship in that house is a nightmare. You're living in each other's pockets. We do things back to front in Geordie Shore – we live with each other first and then afterwards don't see each other as much. It's really weird!

Star's Robyn chats to Holly, Aaron and Gaz

What does he think of your slimmed-down body?

He doesn't care what size I am. I was a stone and a half bigger when I first got with him – I was less bothered about it then and he probably preferred me because I was eating carbs and was happy! His body is amazing, so it's difficult not to feel pressured.

Can you see yourself settling down with him?

Marriage and babies is a long way off. He can't even manage to look after a set of car keys, let alone a child! If we go out his mum gives me the key.

What are his most annoying habits?

He eats like a wild boar. When we're in bed eating I'm like, "What the hell is Holly and Kyle finally put some clothes on!

She says she'll never leave the show going on?!" He's like a caveman who's never seen food before. And he kicks me in his sleep, I swear to God I wake up with bruises. If he can't do it with his legs he starts doing it with his arms or head. We want to get counselling for it!

We saw you in a Fifty Shades-style strappy crop top on Twitter. Were you dressing up for Kyle?

No, that was just an outfit from my range. We spend so much time around each other that we're both constantly naked anyway. He'd be like, "Why have you put some clothes on?"

Who will be the next person to leave Geordie Shore?

Maybe Gary. I don't think he'd ever want to leave, but if he saw himself getting boring then he would want to leave on a high. Me and Charlotte would never, ever leave! ■

'One of the girls cheats!'

We sit down with Gary 'Gaz' Beadle, 27, and Aaron Chalmers, 24, to find out who falls out with who this series, and why they're not ready to settle down just yet...

Hi boys! What goss can you give us on the new series?

Gaz: One of the girls cheats – and gets caught! That's all I can say.

What do you think of the newbies?

Aaron: They fit in well – it's harder for the girls than for the boys.

G: Chloe reminds me of the girls when the show first started. She hasn't figured out what's going on with her hair yet, she'll put on any dress, she doesn't dress for her size or anything.

Who falls out?

A: Holly and Kyle. Me, Gaz, Marnie and Charlotte had a bit of a fight – it was the girls versus us.

G: Charlotte was involved in the most fights. She argues with Chloe, Aaron, Kyle and me! Charlotte's amongst it this time, like!

Gaz, can you see yourself settling down with Lillie?

I'm not the kind of person who needs that. Everyone's getting engaged, but I'm happy. I'm not saying no, I'm just too young.

Has she met your grandad?

Yeah, he loves her. That's one of the things I love about her. One morning

The boys think the newbies fit in well

I woke up and she wasn't there, so I went downstairs and she was sat having breakfast with me grandad. All me family love her.

Aaron, how are things with Marnie?

They're good. Me and Marnie get on really well, we're fine.

So no fall-outs this series?

A: Obviously there are!

Aaron and Gaz won't be settling down soon

G: You all have to fall out with Marnie at least once!

Was it sad to see James Tindale leave?

G: Yeah, he's been there from the start. We've watched him get a girlfriend and grow up. We've shared a lot together.

A: When he told us, he couldn't get his words out. He was obviously upset. ■

FRAGILE ZAYN

'I can't cope any more'

Stressed 1D star pulls out of tour amid claims he cheated on Perrie

After a global barrage of allegations that he had cheated on fiancée Perrie Edwards a fragile Zayn Malik is believed to be "on the edge" – raising concerns that he will quit One Direction for good.

The 22-year-old has been signed off from the Asian leg of 1D's world tour due to "stress", after pictures of him cosying up and holding hands with fan Lauren Richardson at a Thailand club caused a media frenzy last week.

He has since flown back to the UK in a bid to console his Little Mix fiancée, who he began dating over three years ago. Looking drawn and haggard, the stress appeared to be taking its toll on Zayn as he arrived at Heathrow airport on Friday 20 March.

When the incriminating pictures first surfaced, Zayn tried to diffuse the snowballing drama with Essex girl Lauren, 19. He tweeted,

"I'm 22 years old... I love a girl named Perrie Edwards and there's a lot of jealous fks in this world. I'm sorry for what it looks like."

Zayn's mum, Trisha, 45, has since said, "I've spoken to him and he's fine."

But there are now fears that the constant scrutiny he's under as one of the world's biggest pop stars might make Zayn walk out of the band.

A source tells Star, "Zayn finds the limelight and scrutiny the most difficult to deal with out of all the boys. Now this has happened it's left him reconsidering his future with the band because he can't go on feeling like this. It's pushing him to breaking point."

"Growing up and having a relationship in the public eye has been hard enough for the past few years, but this latest scandal could be the last straw."

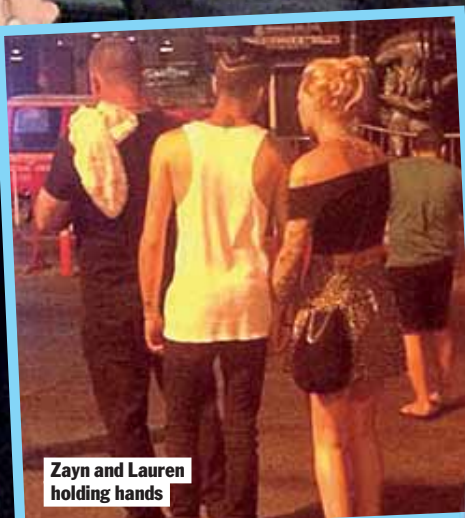

Insiders say that Perrie, 21, was distraught by the pictures but she seemed to show her support for Zayn by re-tweeting his message. The pair were believed to have had a five-hour heart-to-heart shortly after Zayn landed, however Perrie then left their shared London home with a big overnight bag.

While she was still wearing her engagement ring, the state of their relationship remains unclear.

Although Zayn has not categorically denied the cheating rumours, a friend has attempted to set the record straight, claiming, "He spent two minutes with her at the club. She grabbed his hand and he was happy to pose for a photo. But it has turned into this whole other thing online."

Meanwhile, Lauren's mum, Michelle, has branded the allegations as "hilarious".

However, a doorman of the Phuket club, Seduction, revealed that the band had partied at the venue for two nights and that they were surrounded by "plenty of girls".

Many One Directioners have thrown their support behind Zayn, with #HaveAGoodRestZayn trending on Twitter. But the singer has felt the backlash from some fans, with one saying he should be "ashamed" of himself for pulling out of the tour.

Another tweeted, "Hey @zaynmalik? Dont wanna get heat for being a cheater? Heres a thought: dont cheat."

A spokesperson for One Direction confirmed last week, "Zayn has signed off with stress. The band wish him well and will continue their performances in Manila and Jakarta."

But his team is hopeful that he will rejoin bandmates Louis Tomlinson, 23, Liam Payne, Harry Styles and Niall Horan, all 21, for their gig in South Africa on Saturday 28 March.

Zayn's issues appear to have been building up for some time. Last November he missed out on part of a promotional trip to America after falling ill, and last month he walked off stage mid-concert in Perth, Australia, due to sickness.

It's not the first time he has faced public scandal, either. In 2013, the boyband star was accused of being unfaithful with Australian waitress Courtney Webb, and just last year footage leaked of Zayn and bandmate Louis seemingly smoking a joint while they were on tour in Peru.

Stay strong, Zayn. ■

MILEY'S PAIN OVER PATRICK'S 'CHEATING'

The singer is shocked by his 'disrespectful' behaviour

Miley Cyrus has been left devastated after boyfriend Patrick Schwarzenegger was seen getting intimate with another girl while partying in Mexico.

Patrick, 21, was spotted hugging and holding hands with the bikini-clad mystery girl, and even doing shots off her body. And Miley is said to be heartbroken over it.

"Miley was shocked when she saw the pictures," a source explains. "She can't believe Patrick would publicly humiliate her like this. She thinks it's disrespectful and she's really hurt."

Patrick has since spoken out about the cheating claims on Twitter, blasting, "Omg. It's one of my best friends girlfriend..."

"Would NEVER do anything against my GF... Girls have guy friends and guys have friends that are girls."

But 22-year-old Miley, seemingly not convinced, posted a cryptic quote to her Instagram page shortly after which said, "Surround yourself with people that reflect who you want to be and how you want to feel, energies are contagious."

The next day, the singer posted another quote to the site, this time saying, "Don't you ever let someone treat you like a yellow Starburst. You are a pink Starburst."

The pop star, who has been dating Patrick for more than five months, has supposedly been cleaning up her image to impress his family, particularly his mother, Maria Shriver.

Our source continues, "The whole situation is even more painful for Miley because she was willing to tone herself down to help win over his mother."

"She's really fallen for Patrick and she wants his family to like her, but now she doesn't know why she bothered." ■

'I want to be a young mum!'

Single gal Amy Childs is keen to find The One and start a family

Amy Childs has achieved a lot since finding fame in 2010. And while she started off in reality TV, her post-TOWIE CV is all business – she's set up a successful salon, boutique, tanning academy and clothing and beauty empire.

But when we sit down with the 24-year-old at the launch of 3D Lipo at her Brentwood salon, she tells us there's still one big thing on the agenda – settling down!

Amy opens up on her dating mishaps, feeling broody and her search for Mr Right...

Hi Amy! You've been going on dates recently. Who with?

They're just friends of friends. It's nice to have the male attention and flirt! Last year I lacked that. I'm 24 now so I need to find The One soon – my mum and dad are on at me about it! My brother's got a girlfriend and they're really loved-up. And then there's me, who works constantly!

You previously told us you'd like kids this year...

I'd love to be a young mum, but I've got to find the right person first! Whenever there are babies in the shop I'm always picking them up. I do feel broody.

Would you consider adopting?

Definitely – especially if I couldn't have children for some reason.

You're very independent. Has it made you more picky with men?

I'm not unapproachable, but guys seem to be scared of me. I do get the odd guy trying it on when I'm out – usually the ugly mate!

Do you think it's because of TOWIE?

I'm just a normal girl. It upsets me when people say, "You've managed to break away from TOWIE." That show made me, I love it!

Do you think it's as good as when you were on it?

It's different. When I was on it we didn't really bitch about anyone. I think it has to be more set up now because there are more characters on the show.

What do you think about Charlie Sims asking Ferne McCann to choose between him or TOWIE?

There's probably more to it... When I was with Kirk Norcross on the show, it was difficult. They want drama and you have to be entertaining. I feel sorry for Ferne and Charlie. They'd probably still be together if it wasn't for TOWIE.

What else is going on for you?

You may be seeing me back on your TV screens soon...

Tell us about 3D Lipo...

I noticed the difference straight away. I lost inches. I know I'm slim, but I still have a bit of cellulite! My belly felt tighter, I had it on my inner thighs and on my back, too.

Lauren Goodger is on a weight loss mission. Would you offer her the treatment?

Yeah, it's sad she's struggled with her weight. ■

FRANKIE 'I DON'T TALK TO FERNE'

After a year away, Frankie Essex has made her return to TOWIE. And as she is Chloe and Charlie Sims' cousin, the 27-year-old has a lot to say about the latest sparks that have been flying...

Hi Frankie! What made you return? Chloe asked me to support her because she's been having a lot of drama. I was really nervous to come back! How did you feel about Ferne McCann's digs at you on Twitter? Well, she would, wouldn't she? I don't talk to her. I'm just not going to entertain it. I think, "You obviously didn't love Charlie enough to choose him over the show." Were you shocked that Charlie left so abruptly? Yes, I was upset.

Will he and Chloe make up? They bloody better! It's family – they'll sort it out. What do you think about Chloe and Elliott Wright? It's nice they're friends and flirty. That attraction doesn't go away.

Have you met Joey's girlfriend yet? I'm meeting her soon. She sounds nice. I think he wants to protect her from the public – they want their time together! ■

Tamara's OTT party for baby Sophia

Formula 1 heiress Tamara Ecclestone has shrugged off criticism about the £70k first birthday bash she threw for her daughter Sophia last week.

Sharing a slogan on Instagram, which read, "My choices as a mother are not open to debate. Love, mothers everywhere," the 30-year-old said, "This made me laugh so much."

The flamboyant affair held at Tamara's London home featured a pink balloon castle, a visiting princess, a farmyard – even a zebra!

Revealing balloons are now "the birthday girls new favourite things" (not zebras?!) Tamara wrote, "Happy birthday angel no words could ever describe how much I love you..."

Pete 'I'll be married by next year!'

They've certainly taken their time, but plans for Peter Andre and Emily McDonagh's wedding have finally been set in motion.

Pete, 42, has confirmed, "We'll definitely be married by about this time next year.

"We could do it earlier, but the latest we're gonna get married is probably May next year."

The Mysterious Girl crooner popped the question just weeks before their daughter Amelia, now 15 months old, was born.

Guess we'd best go buy a new hat then!

Jessie 'Rita's a liar!'

Jessie J certainly knows how to tell it straight! The 27-year-old, who was a coach on series one and two of The Voice, has slated the judging style of Rita Ora, 24, saying, "She's really good, but my comments would be different."

Insisting Rita needs to be tougher, she added, "There are a few people who were told they were amazing that weren't." Referring to one particular blind audition she remarked, "No one turned around and afterwards one of the judges said, 'It was so amazing, I can't critique it.' Well why didn't you turn around? Because you're lying."

Ouch – that's harsh!

The only way is Pricey!

Danielle Armstrong has sparked speculation that Katie Price and her husband Kieran Hayler will appear on The Only Way Is Essex after tweeting about them "filming together" on a double date.

Danielle, 26, wrote, "So excited for @Miss KatiePrice and Kieran to be filming tonight with me and @james #Sheesh"

But a TOWIE insider tells Star, "Katie and Kieran aren't filming for TOWIE. Katie and Katie in TOWIE? Oh shutuuup!

Danielle have been friends for years, they were just having a laugh."

Boo! We'd love to see you and Kieran propping up the bar at Sugar Hut, KP!

Shrinking Sam 'I feel so happy!'

British crooner Sam Smith has been showing off the dramatic results of his recent weight loss campaign – 14lbs in 14 days!

And the celeb nutritionist responsible? Amelia Freer, formerly Prince Charles' assistant dontcha know! Explaining that his diet guru has "completely changed my life" and "transformed my relationship with food", Sam added, "Love you Amelia & thank you for making me feel so happy inside and out."

writing, "Gym is kicking my ass today".

Meanwhile Game Of Thrones star Alfie Allen has dismissed his sister Lily's claims that she's Sam's third cousin, stating, "It's absolute rubbish!"

Kerry's drugs scare

Kerry Katona has made no secret of her troubled past, which has been marred by money problems, two failed marriages and drug addiction. But the 34-year-old doesn't want her kids to make the same mistakes.

Kerry has admitted she's warned her children off her bad habits, saying, "They know how dangerous drugs can be and I'm hoping I've scared the hell out of them."

She then went on to have a dig at former husbands Brian McFadden, 34, and Mark Croft, 43, saying, "One was a cock, one was a con artist, and now look, I've got a Mr Universe."

GEMMA

'My secret heartache'

The real reason behind the TOWIE star's 'diva' behaviour on set

Gemma Collins was branded an out-of-control diva when she turned up late for filming on TOWIE recently. But the criticism has left her distraught due to the real reason for her poor time-keeping – she's been busy caring for her sick mum, Joan.

Last week, the 34-year-old opened up to Star about how she has been acting as a carer for Joan, who is suffering with debilitating osteoarthritis.

Revealing her more vulnerable side, Gemma said, "The reports really upset me. The reason I've been late to filming is because my mum's in a terrible way. She is suffering with osteoarthritis and some days she can't move, she's basically disabled now."

"When your mum is ringing you, crying in agony, what can you do? My mum comes first."

The circumstances have now left Gemma struggling to cope with her hectic schedule.

"I've been juggling filming, my other work and helping my mum. I've been staying there as well because my dad goes to work at 5am," she continued.

"It's been very stressful on the family. Sometimes it becomes too much, but TOWIE are really understanding and we see counsellors. I don't want pity, but people don't realise what goes on outside of the show."

When branded a "diva" by co-star Ferne McCann on the programme last year, Gemma replied that she had "earned my diva-ship". But now, the ever-bubbly star is feeling more fragile and that label has left her feeling uncomfortable.

She added, "People forget I'm just Gemma, I'm not this bloody GC person. Can everyone just call me Gemma from now on! People make all these comments and it's like, 'Give me a break, I'm looking after my mum.'"

"Suddenly I'm seen as these two people, Gemma and GC, and it's out of control. But TOWIE would not tolerate people being divas on the show. We're not film stars!" ■

THAT SNOG WITH LEWIS EXPLAINED...

Gem gave us the lowdown on her cheeky – and very unexpected – kiss with Lewis Bloor, 24, on last week's show.

She said, "With all the stress going on, I needed to let go and I'd rather be kissing someone I know and trust than some weirdo! When it happened it was just like, 'Whatever! It was a bit of fun.'"

But does she see Lewis as anything more than a friend in the long run?

"I really like Lewis," she adds. "On a spiritual level, we've always got on really well. Am I attracted to him? Yeah!"

'I'm ready to settle down'

Lauren Pope says she's done with immature TOWIE boys and wants a man!

When we sit down with Lauren Pope at London's Sanctum Soho Hotel for a cuppa, she welcomes us into her room to check out her spring/summer clothing collection.

While we're here, the 32-year-old tells us why she's been put off dating childish TOWIE boys, the hardest thing about being famous and how she deals with being told she looks like an alien!

Hi Lauren! Are you looking for love at the moment?

Definitely, but it's hard with the show because they are all boys... We need some nice, older, eligible bachelors on there.

Have you been put off dating Essex lads?

No, I've just been put off dating immature boys. Also, I don't know when I would fit time in for a guy.

Do you want to settle down?

Definitely. I'm 32, I feel everything is clicking into place now and coming together really nicely, so it would be nice to meet someone.

Would you like children?

In the lead up to 30 I had that massive, "Oh my God, why am I not married with kids by now?!"

But you've got to be realistic and my timescale hasn't gone to plan so far. I need to get cracking!

If you had a boyfriend, would you take him on TOWIE?

It's risky... Lucy Meck brought Mario Falcone on the show and he cheated on her God knows how

She's passionate about fashion

many times. If I met a guy who wanted to come on the show it would make me wary. There are warning signs when you meet a guy. If they start asking about TOWIE, that's what they're into.

Does being in the limelight make it harder to date?

I'll meet someone and think they're really nice, but when they get comfortable, that's when the warning signs come. But I'm quick to suss people out. Someone can say one thing, totally cringe me out and I'm done. I'm cut-throat!

What's the downside of fame?

People pick you apart. I've always been told I look weird – I always get called an alien. But then Tyra Banks says she gets called an alien, so I take it as a compliment!

Do you worry about TOWIE coming to an end?

No, because I've worked hard on a lot of things, like my hair brand. It won't last forever but I don't think the boys understand that. They're at PAs every week getting pissed.

Who will struggle most?

Well, what's Lewis Bloor going to do? He's been unemployed for quite some time. He tried the whole bad boy thing and that massively backfired.

Tell us about your new clothing collection...

It's different from other celebs' because this is a passion. I'm opinionated and I clash with the company a lot. It's influenced heavily by me, while keeping everyone else out there in mind. I can't do it just for me, unfortunately! ■

Drink cockroaches.

Snog Arg or Mario?

Arg. If you snogged Mario he'd switch on you two minutes after!

Go to the Sugar Hut in a two-piece bikini or a frumpy granny two-piece?

The frumpy granny outfit – I'd just get there and work it.

Go without make-up or hair extensions for a whole year?

I'd probably go without the make-up. Even if I'm at home and I've got no make-up on and my hair's done. I still feel that powerful feeling you get when you've got a good hairdo.

Appear on Geordie Shore or Made In Chelsea?

I do love Geordie Shore but I don't think I'd have the stamina, so I'd probably say Made In Chelsea. I prefer the characters on Geordie Shore – I'd have more of a laugh there – but I prefer the clothes on Made In Chelsea!

'They can show their nipples and cuss!'

Coach Will.i.am, 40, on all the challenges and cheeky fun the live shows offer

The original Team Will

The atmosphere is electric inside a small London bar where we're about to see The Voice UK contestants in action at an open mic gig.

As we sip our vino, coaches Rita Ora, Will.i.am (thanks for the selfie!) and Ricky Wilson talk live shows, who they're backing to win and why the pressure's really on...

Hi Will! How are you feeling now the live shows have started?

I'm really excited! I'm trying to stay as blank as possible so I can be just as thrilled and honest as the audience watching at home are.

Do you think the contestants are under a lot of pressure?

Not to put any stress on the contestants, but there's no

Instagram filter on the cameras or editing to get the right look.

What advice have you given them? Everything you guys have been dreaming of is right now. Some of our careers are healthier than others, but when do we ever get to do a live show and live TV? Rita did it. She did the freaking Oscars!

How about you?

I don't know when my ass was last on live TV! Our finalists don't get it yet. They can do anything they want – some Janet Jackson, show your nipples, show some cuss words. Wouldn't it be funny if Lucy said motherfers in her opera voice?!

How nervous do you get about your acts facing the public vote?

I try not to get nervous. The hardest part was sending people home. Now the choice is in the people's hands. My contestants Sheena, Vikesh and Lucy can conquer any obstacle.

Jermain Jackman's album comes out this week. How excited are you?

I'm happy for Jermain. He's a great singer. The Voice was the first step and now his career begins.

Do you speak to any other ex-contestants you mentored?

The people I talk to most often are Jazz, Moni Tivony, Leah and Kate. But I tweet them a lot. ■

Gemma McCartney

The Voice UK finals are on Saturday on BBC One

Star's Gemma with Will

'My final three sing better than me!'

Kaiser Chiefs front man Ricky Wilson, 37, on why Emmanuel, Autumn and Stevie rock

Hey Ricky! How do your finalists differ from last year's three?

This year none of my three have had the confidence before to let out what's within them. Now they've all become something great, but it was always there. And on the live shows you see that and it'll blow your fing minds!

How will you fare against the other coaches?

It's not a popularity contest. It's not about how many Twitter followers you've got, or how many records you've sold, or if you knew Elvis. It's about the singers.

What were you nervous about for the live shows?

Nothing. Last year I was terrified, but this year, you know, nobody dies, – the weight isn't on my shoulders.

Would you consider dueting with Emmanuel, Autumn or Stevie?

I'm not a great singer. I'd never presume I could sing better than any of my three finalists. They deserved to enter The Voice. I just deserve to be a coach on it.

Have you got the winner on your team?

Yeah, I think the winner is in my three. I don't mind who, as long as one of them wins! ■

'The first show was hard for me'

Sassy Rita Ora, 24, reveals why she found her Voice debut so tough

Hey Rita! What has the reaction been like from the public?

I go to the supermarket now and the grandmothers and mums are like, "You're really good on The Voice!" It's expanded my fanbase! Was it intimidating being a newbie coach this series?

It was quite hard at first because it was the first time I was opening myself up to the public that much. So I felt like, "Do I hold it in? Do I laugh? Do I change my laugh?"

How did you get over that?

Ricky gave me a little speech and Sir Tom was so supportive and gave me advice. I actually listened for once and now I feel OK.

What did you learn from them?

The more you're yourself, the better – so I've tried to be myself.

What guidance can you offer your contestants?

I'm originally from Albania, so for me to do the show when I'm not even from here makes me feel I might be able to help them. The show opened my mind to how much talent there is in the UK. Will you be coming back for a second series?

Let me get through this one first! ■

Where is the LOVE?

Has Cupid's arrow hit or missed this week?

Bradley Cooper & Suki Waterhouse

Their two-year romance is over, but Bradley and Suki don't appear too broken-hearted. Last week the actor, 40, enjoyed a wild boys' night out in Las Vegas, while Suki, 22, was spotted joking around at the New York premiere of Insurgent.

The couple, who first got together in March 2013, were recently said to be house-hunting together ahead of his West End stint in The Elephant Man. You can always kip at ours, Bradders!

Sheridan Smith & Greg Wood

Are those wedding bells we can hear? Cilla star Sheridan, 33, who has been enjoying a whirlwind romance with Hollyoaks baddie Greg, 36, since he split from his wife last year, was seen with a ring on her engagement finger last week. The couple also went for an even more permanent love token – matching tattoos of the ace of hearts card, above the words, “All in”. Yep, that's for sure!

Chris Martin & Kate Hudson

What's going on with these two? They've been close friends for years, but Chris and Kate raised eyebrows last week when they were spotted sunbathing and laughing together on a Malibu beach while their kids played nearby.

The Coldplay frontman, 38, and the 35-year-old actress were introduced by his estranged wife Gwyneth Paltrow, who Kate struck up a friendship with after she moved to London with former fiancé, singer Matt Bellamy. We wonder how Gwyn feels about Chris and Kate's recent outing...

Mario Falcone & Emma McVey

Model Emma has had enough of Mario's roving eye – dumping him on Twitter! After Feme McCann tried to set him up with TOWIE newbie Chloe Lewis, Emma, 26, wrote, “Be happy with your Essex girl I'm far too good for that.” She added, “Wow @Mario_Falcone you almost fooled me.” After confirming that he and Emma are “going through a really bad phase”, Mario, 27, didn't waste any time flirting with Chloe!

LOVE BITES! LOVE BITES! LOVE BITES! LOVE BITES! LOVE BITES!

● TOWIE's Feme McCann says she's on “civil” terms with Charlie Sims after he dumped her via Twitter two weeks ago. She said on Snapchat, “We're taking a break.” ● The Voice's Ricky Wilson has blamed the pressures of fame for his split from girlfriend of five years,

Lesley Williams. He says, “I took the risk of putting myself out there and I knew it was going to change me.” ● Hot Hollywood couple alert! News reaches us that Lily Collins is dating Chris Evans. ● Jude Law has become a dad for the fifth time, after his ex Catherine Harding had a baby girl. ● Are Jamie Foxx and Katie Holmes an item? Sources say they've been seeing each other for over a year... ● On/off couple Katy Perry and John Mayer are said to be off again. ● Corrie star Catherine Tyldesley and fiancé Tom Pitfield have become parents to a boy called Alfie.

'I'd love to have a child!'

TV star Louie Spence opens up on his personal life...

Since finding fame on Pineapple Dance Studios, Louie Spence has reigned as TV's camp comedy "queen". But when he's not entertaining us, the 45-year-old is really flipping normal!

As Louie tells us about his new role in stage musical The Producers, he also speaks about the side of him we don't get to see. And despite previously saying he isn't ready to be a dad, Louie says he's now talking kids with his husband...

Hi Louie! How is it being back on stage for The Producers?

Other than panto, this is the first time I've done theatre since 1998, so it's nerve-racking. With panto, if you mess up it doesn't matter so much because it's fun. But a show like this, you can't.

Jason Manford is in the show.

What's he like to work with?

He's really talented. He's got a beautiful voice. He's done well with the tap dancing, too!

Would you take a serious role?

I'd like to. People see me as a high-kicking, camp queen but my TV persona is only one part of who I am. I'm not like that all the time – I'd have to slap myself!

Do you miss your husband when you're touring?

Yes. We bought somewhere and now we have dogs, so I love being at home with family. But now there's talk of a child too and I'm like, "Darling, hang on a minute!"

Would you like to have kids?

We'd love to have a child and we have spoken about it, but it's a huge commitment – you can't rush into it. Without making a child sound like a pet, since having dogs and getting that unconditional love, it's made us think, "God, if we feel this way about a dog, how would we feel about our child?"

Would you adopt?

It's not as easy for gay couples. My husband is probably more

On the slopes during The Jump

He's shy really...

As Carmen in The Producers

paternal than I am, but I'm very open to it.

Your partner is very private. Is he supportive of your career?

He doesn't come to anything with me as he finds that whole scene pretentious and insincere, but he's very supportive. We have different personalities, but it works. He calms me down and puts me in my place!

Do you keep in touch with anyone from The Jump?

We have a WhatsApp group. They were the loveliest group.

Have you spoken to Carol McGiffin since she revealed she is battling breast cancer?

I sent her a text saying I'm glad she's pulling through it. Carol is incredible. She was a rock when we were in Celebrity Big Brother.

Would you like another judging role after Dancing On Ice?

Yeah, I think I'm a good judge when it comes to dance as I've spent my whole life doing it.

What about Strictly?

Of course! But their panel is very established. I can't see them going anywhere as it works so well. ■

'It feels normal to be back on Corrie!'

Tina O'Brien talks life back on the cobbles

Seven years since quitting Coronation Street, Tina O'Brien is back, reprising her role as wild child Sarah-Louise Platt – and she says it feels like she's never been away.

We sit down with the 31-year-old to find out how she feels about being back on the cobbles and juggling the hectic filming schedule now she's a mum of two.

Tina also opens up on being part of a modern family with six-year-old Scarlett, her daughter with her ex and Corrie co-star Ryan Thomas, and her five-month-old son Beau with personal trainer partner Adam Crofts...

Hi Tina! What's it like to be back?

I was really nervous because it had been so long since I played Sarah, but it has felt strangely normal. When I was pregnant, coming back was put on hold. So after I had Beau I jumped at the chance. There are so many things Sarah hasn't finished.

Was there any hesitation about returning to the show?

No, it was a perfect fit for me. When I first started I was 16. I left at 24 because I felt like I needed to branch out and see the world. Now I've got two children and I feel more content.

How do you find being a working mum?

It's a juggle. I wouldn't be able to do it without Adam. He's been amazing. He's a personal trainer so he can stay at home on Mondays and look after Scarlett and Beau and it gives me flexibility.

Does he make you work out all the time?

No – I would actually kill him!

Was Ryan, who plays Jason Grimshaw, pleased to be working with you again?

He's been so supportive. He's known from the very early stages, as I discussed it with him. He was really good about it and said, "I think it will be brilliant for you."

So you still get on well?

We're lucky – we've got our little girl and we're a very modern family. Last year we spent Christmas morning all together for the first time. It was lovely.

Was it hard getting back into shape after Beau's birth?

I'm not back in shape yet. There are all kinds of things going on under here! [Points to her clothes] Corrie have been fantastic though. They're not expecting me to be a certain way and the costume department have been great.

Did it feel like something was missing with Anne Kirkbride, who played Deirdre Barlow, having passed away recently?

It was really strange when I first came back because she was such a loved member of the Coronation Street family. It was a really sad time.

What do you think about Lucy Fallon replacing Katie Redford to play your daughter Bethany?

I know there was a lot of drama before, but I think Lucy is the perfect choice. I do feel quite protective!

Will it be weird doing love scenes now that you're a mum?

It's been so long since I've done romantic scenes, but it will be fine because Sean Ward [who plays her on-screen love interest Callum Logan] is lovely.

Which castmates did you stay in touch with while you were away?

Obviously Ryan, Jack Shepherd a little bit because I know his partner Lauren, Helen Flanagan and Samia Ghadie.

Is your daughter Scarlett showing any interest in following in your showbiz footsteps?

Bless her, she hasn't really got a choice with me and Ryan! She recently auditioned for Matilda, but she wants to be a singer.

Does she watch Corrie?

She does, and she watches Emmerdale because her uncle Adam is in that [playing Adam Barton]. She thinks everyone is on TV! ■

DIETS, DATING AND DRAMA... TALES OF A GEORDIE GIRL!

Hi guys!

I've been doing lots of book-writing sessions for my autobiography. It's going well, but it's hard trying to recall everything that's happened in your life. Thankfully my mam and dad idolise us – so they remember every last detail. :-(!

Charlotte

I'm on the diet wagon

My diet is amazing at the moment. I've eaten carrot sticks with hummus, scrambled eggs and lots of salads. After my trip to Australia, it will be a good while until I fall off the diet wagon again. I've promised myself that I won't have a cheat day now for a month.

Family time

Mitch came down to mine for the weekend, and we spent time with my mam and my little brother. Mitch took us out for dinner and paid for it all. It was a lovely little place in Newcastle that's just opened called The Botanist – it's dead quirky. The cocktails come in watering cans and you get little plant pots, buckets and spades and your starter comes on a shovel! The food was gorgeous.

Keep it up, Arg

James Argent looks really good at the moment. I hope he keeps it up, I'm really proud of him! Hopefully, looking good in the mirror is what's going to keep him maintaining it. If Arg has any trouble, he's more than welcome to come to me for tips – and I'd give him my DVD if he wants!

Move on!

I saw David McIntosh and Kelly Brook's Twitter spat – him posting WhatsApp screenshots was the lowest of the low. But they're as bad as each other and it's getting a bit boring now! You either want to be with each other or you don't. They'd do us all a favour if they both moved on, kept quiet and learned how to be mature.

Waist training

Kim Kardashian posted a picture of herself wearing a waist-training corset – it seems those girls do it all the time. Do people think you can put a corset on and lose weight? That's absolutely ridiculous. The only reason celebs put them on is because they get paid to do it. I'd never do it in 100 years. I'm happy with my shape and I got it through exercise and eating healthy.

'Diva' Gemma

Gemma Collins was accused of being a diva by showing up late to film TOWIE, but I heard it was because she's been caring for her sick mum. If any of us acted like divas on Geordie Shore, we'd get shown the door. None of us are bigger than the show and we can be replaced – we get told that every series! Hols is a bit of a diva, mind. If she doesn't want to do something, she's not doing it!

★ 'There's no honour to dating in NYC' ★

Taking New York's Sophie Pape likes her relationships the British way!

After working as a journalist in London, Sophie Pape was ready for a new challenge. So three years ago, the 28-year-old upped sticks and moved to the States to start her own fashion events company and she hasn't looked back since.

But if running her own business wasn't enough, Sophie is also starring in new reality TV show Taking New York. We don't know how she fits it all in!

We catch up with Sophie to hear about the dating scene in New York, the tension between her and Sumner and why Georgina drives her up the wall...

And what are your thoughts on Sumner?

We've had our problems. I hadn't seen some of the things she's said about me, so when I did I was like, "Are you kidding me?"

Do you fancy any of the guys?

Have you seen them? They're all gorgeous! You'll have to keep watching. One of them in particular ends up standing out for me.

You and Matt Charles are close – would you ever go there?

I would, yeah! He's like everyone's uncle but when you scrape away, he's really wonderful and loyal.

What about Jamie Jewitt?

Jamie is astoundingly good looking, but his attitude towards women leaves something to be desired.

Do you like the dating scene in New York?

I hate it. There's a lack of honour. In the UK, you sleep with one person and that's it, but in the States you could be sleeping with a million people until you have the conversation.

Have you found a good man?

I'm dating an American – I went to the dark side.

So, what are you like as a girlfriend?

I'm really good! I'm very loyal and I try to support the person I'm with. I can be a royal pain, though! I'm like every girl – I have ten per cent crazy in me.

What's working in fashion events really like?

It can be very cut-throat, but if you don't take shit you don't have to deal with shit. I'm the most unfashionable fashion girl you can imagine! ■

Daisy Jordan

Hi Soph! Is it fun seeing yourself on TV on TNY?

No! I didn't realise I had so many chins! I wish we could have had a preview of the first episode so I could have gone on a diet.

Do you have any showbiz pals?

Ollie Locke is a good friend. I knew him even before Made In Chelsea. We hang out all the time when he comes to New York. I love him to bits.

Which of the Taking New York girls are you closest to?

Georgina is my best friend – and the biggest pain in my ass!

You two are always arguing...

Today we're on good terms but yesterday wasn't so great. I was travelling and I didn't manage to go online much. She likes to text so she got mad at me. She needs attention from her friends and when I'm not available, it becomes a real problem.

'We argue about something every day!'

Brian McFadden and model wife Vogue Williams dish on married life and being too busy for babies...

When we meet up with Brian McFadden and Vogue Williams in central London, we're greeted with a warm welcome. Vogue quickly makes us tea and their adorable dog, Winston, even jumps up to say hello!

Sitting down with a cuppa, Star quizzes Brian, 34, and Vogue, 29, on their baby plans, how they keep the romance alive after three and a half years of marriage, and how things are between Brian and his ex-wife, Kerry Katona...

Hi Brian and Vogue! You're both pretty busy. Is it hard to spend time together?

Vogue: Sometimes it's difficult, but it helps living with each other because then at least we are in the same room and we're having dinner together, so we actually spend more time together than a normal couple.

Do you miss each other when you're away working?

Brian: It usually comes together at the same time, like when Vogue was working in Costa Rica, I was on tour.

It's better that way.

V: But if we don't, it's fine having a little holiday from each other.

B: Absence makes the headache go away!

What do you do to keep the romance alive?

V: We're so lazy with stuff like that.

B: We don't make a conscious effort to do anything like that.

V: I love our walks in the morning. I know it's not romantic, but we go for an hour-long power walk and we chat for a long time and I love that. We go for the odd meal out, but we usually end up going with friends and go for a big catch-up!

Vogue, what's the most romantic thing Brian has ever done?

B: Married her!

V: Ooh, lucky me...

B: Or probably buying you Winston.

V: Oh yeah, I love dogs and he got me Winston. I always leave pictures of shoes and stuff on my desk or I'll put them on Instagram, and then sometimes he gets them for me.

What's the secret to a strong marriage?

V: Make sure you're best friends because you do spend all your time together and you have to enjoy spending your time together!

What's the hardest thing about marriage?

V: When you have a fight you can't even threaten them – you're just stuck with them. It's like, "Damn I can't even threaten them with that!"

B: I agree!

Do you argue a lot?

B: Yeah!

V: But not seriously, it's more bickering.

B: Every day we have to argue about something.

Who wins the arguments?

V: Me!

B: I can't be arsed, I just agree. She loves fighting, she's such a drama queen. When her mum and sisters are together they are all mad for arguing – if they aren't having a fight, they aren't happy. Even her stepdad's the same. If the house is really quiet, he gets annoyed over it!

V: That's what happens when you have a big family – you all just ignore each other!

What do you love most about each other?

V: Brian is just good fun to be around.

B: Vogue makes an amazing chilli... If we were to get divorced I'd miss your chilli most!

V: If we were to get divorced I would miss...

B: Winston?

V: No, because he would be coming with me! I'd miss using you for shoes.

Vogue, what's your relationship like with Brian's daughters, Molly and Lilly-Sue?

V: It's great, they're lovely little girls and we're best mates – they like all the things I liked at that age. They're also at that age where they're like, "No, I want to stay with my friends!"

Are you planning to start a family soon?

V: Not right now because we're really busy at the moment and I'm starting to do loads of stuff – I'm making a TV show and I wouldn't be able to do that. I don't feel in a rush to do it. You need to take a full year out and I'm not in the position to do that yet.

B: We'll probably wait for the girls [Molly and Lilly] to be 16 and 17, so then we have free babysitters!

How often do you see them?

B: We try to see them quite often. We take them back to Ireland in the holidays, but this time Molly wanted to hang out with her friends, so Lilly came on her own.

With Brian and Kerry's kids Lilly (left) and Molly

Once a week we try to take them to the movies or go bowling.

How would they react to a baby?

V: They'd love it.

B: There are about 12 in their own house already, so I'm sure they're used to babies coming.

V: Molly is really good with her baby sisters and brother.

B: They're used to being around babies, so they'd probably be like, "Oh, another one, for God's sake!"

How's your relationship with Kerry Katona now?

B: It's fine, we have our own lives now, which is great. We're both married and have our own families and are just getting on with it.

Would you like your daughters to go into showbiz?

B: They can if they want, but first they need to get their education. I don't mind what they do after they've got an education.

Would you ever renew your wedding vows?

V: It's a nice thing to do for some people, but I hate the feeling of costing people money. I'd have a big party if we had been together for ten years or something.

B: Saying that, five years is a great achievement these days, isn't it! Vogue, growing up you wanted to marry Liam Gallagher. Did you ever imagine you'd end up with Brian from Westlife instead?

V: No I didn't, definitely not. It's only early days – me and Liam could still make it work!

B: You never know!

Who wears the trousers?

V: We both equally have an opinion.

B: Neither of us, we both just wear skirts!

Tell us why you take Vitano supplements?

V: I always slump in the day – I don't go to sleep as early as I should. These give you that boost during the day and also have all your vitamins in there, like B vitamins and zinc. I just take one in the morning and then it's done! ■

Justin's Canadian. He's actually considered American, because no Canadian has ever been this much of an asshole.

Justin's fans are called Beliebers because it's politically incorrect to use the word retards.

Orlando Bloom took a swing at you; you have a perfume called Girlfriend; you threw eggs at a house – not gangsta.

I'm proud of you. You have it all. You are literally a guy who has it all, except for respect, love, friends, good parents, and a Grammy.

Usher is the one who took you under his wing. You're the worst thing that Usher has done to America, since the guy who sat John Wilkes Booth behind Abraham Lincoln.

Selena Gomez wanted to be here but she's dating men now. Is it true you dumped her because she grew a moustache before you?

Roast Of The Day Bieber

He asked for it and now Justin Bieber has been well and truly roasted for his embarrassing legal problems and all-round brattish behaviour. Not holding back in the annual Comedy Central Roast, comedians, rappers and actors took turns giving the 21-year-old the "ass-whuppin' he deserves"...

But Bieber got the last word after a night of roasting, saying, "What do you get when you give a teenager $200 million? A bunch of has-beens calling you a lesbian for two hours."

He then apologised for his past behaviour before vowing to turn over a new leaf... which involved him heading straight to Vegas for his belated 21st birthday celebrations at Omnia nightclub, and getting into a heated row with actor David Arquette! Justin's rumoured fee for going to his own party was $500,000 – which no doubt made the roast a little easier to handle.

Gigi 'Insulted by cocaine claims'

Kendall Jenner's model BFF Gigi Hadid has been forced to deny she does drugs, after speculation that she appeared to be snorting cocaine in a Snapchat video.

The clip was taken by her pop-star beau Cody Simpson at the Victoria's Secret Pink Nation Spring Break Bash in Miami. But Gigi, 19, says she was "insulted" by the idea of her taking drugs.

She tweeted, "I take pride in being a good role model, would never touch that."

Amber 'I don't hate Khloé'

She had it out with Khloé Kardashian in a bitter Twitter war over her famous siblings, but Amber Rose insists she's not holding a grudge.

The 31-year-old model says, "I don't hate Khloé... but that's a phone call she could have had with me. She didn't have to tweet 11 times and try to humiliate me."

Amber isn't so forgiving of her ex Kanye West's nasty comments. She says, "We were happy when we were together, and now I'm getting slut shamed, and it's unfair."

Third time lucky?

Things are getting uglier and uglier for Pamela Anderson and Rick Salomon, who are going through separation No3.

The actress, 47, has got a restraining order against Rick, alleging he tried to smother and strangle her during sex.

Rick, also 47, has filed for an annulment, while Pamela has filed for divorce, which would entitle her to half his earnings. New reports claim Pam has accused Rick of lying about his earnings – including $40 million in poker winnings from 2014.

Tay's cat goes cray

Taylor Swift took to Twitter last week to scold her kitty, Meredith, for scratching her leg. Joking about the insurance policy she's apparently taken out on her pins, she wrote, "GREAT WORK MEREDITH I WAS JUST TRYING TO LOVE YOU AND NOW YOU OWE ME 40 MILLION DOLLARS."

Tay, 25, added another pic of her bandaged leg, writing, "Couldn't help but make it into a pun..."

'I'm seeing how it goes with Steve-O'

The singer finally opens up on romance with her Jump co-star

As we kick off our chat with Stacey Solomon about her debut album, Shy, the former X Factor finalist has a definite glint in her eye.

Sure enough, the conversation soon turns from music to dating, and the mum-of-two coyly confirms that the rumours of her romance with Jackass star Steve-O are true!

Stacey, 25, tells Star what made her fall for the 40-year-old daredevil after meeting on reality show The Jump earlier this year and why she won't rush into anything for the sake of her sons, Zachary, seven, and two-year-old Leighton...

Hi Stacey! Why did you wait so long to release an album?

It's been a really long time coming but I've always been adamant about writing my own songs. That means more to me than rushing to get it out after doing The X Factor. If you do it straight out of the show, you don't have a say in what you're doing.

Did you get a lot of artistic say on Shy?

My label were great. I got to go into the studio about 1,000 times and write. Some days were quite emotional – it was like a counselling session! I let out things that I suppress in everyday life. There's a lot about love and how complicated it is.

So, are you dating anyone at the moment?

Yes, there is someone I really like...

Go on, you can tell us...

It's Steve [Steve-O]. I'm scared to say much in case nothing comes of it. So we're just seeing how it goes and whether it turns into anything.

What is it about him that you're attracted to?

He's just the nicest person. He's young at heart and fun like me. But he's also very thoughtful.

Why are you hesitant to put it out there?

I've always been quite nervous about dating anyone because I've got kids. If it's not going anywhere I don't want to make it a big deal. I don't want to introduce them to lots of different guys.

Is Steve-O in the UK right now?

No, he's in LA. He came over recently and he's coming back in April. I don't know how it

She's protective of her "perfect" boys would work so we're just going to see.

Has he met the boys?

He met them when we were in Austria for The Jump. He's like one of them – he's a big kid!

Has Simon Cowell been in touch to wish you luck with the album?

If I see him he always asks how I'm getting on. I'm hoping to speak to him when The X Factor comes back and see what we can do.

How did you feel about Rita Ora and Lily Allen contributing to it?

I was honoured. Rita Ora co-wrote Shy, which I can't believe! Lily Allen also co-wrote a song. I love everything about Lily, she's a powerful woman.

How do you juggle work with being a single parent?

It's tricky but whenever I feel I've got a lot on, I just think, "Well, I wouldn't change any of it." If I hadn't done X Factor I wouldn't have had these opportunities.

Stacey adores "fun" Steve-O

Who gets to come off the show and work for six years straight?

Would you like to have more children eventually?

I've got a female dog and she's like my little girl! I'll cross that bridge if and when it comes to it, but I don't want any more right now.

Would you consider doing more reality shows?

I think I've done my fair share of reality TV, but I'd love to do The Great British Bake Off – I love Mary Berry's book! ■

Who is Natalia Kills?

The British singer gets famous overnight after 'bullying' an X Factor contestant

British singer Natalia Kills caused controversy last week, when she used her position as a judge on New Zealand's X Factor to attack contestant Joe Irvine for his "unoriginality". But until we saw the rant, we'd barely even heard of her!

Sitting on the panel alongside her singer hubby Willy Moon (again, who?), 28-year-old Natalia described Joe as "a laughing stock", "creepy", "cheesy" and "disgusting" and accused him of copying Willy's style. She and Willy, 25, were promptly sacked over the "destructive tirade".

But Natalia – who was dumped by her label months ago – insists, "A lot goes on behind the scenes of a reality show and what you see isn't always the whole story. I was encouraged to be outspoken and things got out of hand. Joe, I hope you can forgive me!"

We did a little digging on intriguing Natalia...

INSIDE HER DARK PAST

Natalia is open about her bad-girl past, revealing, "I moved out when I was almost 15 and spent my whole teenage years with no money, fighting with my boyfriend, joining a cult and getting in trouble with the police."

She also admitted to trying to burn down the house while she and her then boyfriend were in it when she was 18.

SHE HAD AN ALTER EGO

Launching her career under the name of Verbalicious in 2005, her debut single charted at number 11. She was later dropped due to poor sales.

A SECOND CHANCE...

Natalia was signed to Will.i.am's label in 2009, but her comeback single charted at an embarrassing 101. Her next single, a duet with Will in 2011, peaked at 118 and her debut album Perfectionist went to an abysmal 129.

A younger Natalia aspired to be an actress with small parts in Coronation Street, Casualty, Doctors and Silent Witness.

SHE'S GOT CELEB HATERS

After being axed from the show, her fellow judge and All Saints band member Melanie Blatt tweeted, "I've tried to keep my cool and stay professional but really @nataliakills? again, I reckon. Who's going to hire her? Nobody." Meanwhile, Lorde sent contestant Joe cupcakes and a sweet letter, and Ed Sheeran, Ellie Goulding and Calvin Harris have also supported him.

SHE DOESN'T LIKE COMPARISONS!

In 2011, when Natalia was compared to Lady Gaga, she made her disapproval known, saying, "If people like your music and it's good, then who gives a fk? Gaga is the most popular artist at the moment, but we don't know what's going to happen to her in the next three years. I've been making music since I was 14, before the likes of Christina and Gaga's careers even existed." That's us told. ■

'I'm obsessed with Kim and Kanye's style'

Kylie Jenner even takes inspiration from their young daughter North!

Kim and Kanye are her fashion icons

When we received our invite to meet Kylie Jenner as she was named global ambassador for beauty brand Nip + Fab (nipandfab.com), we could hardly contain our excitement!

The youngest of the Kardashian clan arrives fashionably late to the event, looking flawless in all black with her signature bold lips.

On a whistle-stop trip to London, the 17-year-old reality star reveals her top beauty tips, her plans to move out of momager Kris Jenner's house and how she never works out...

Hi Kylie! How does it feel to be such a huge style icon?

It's definitely a lot of pressure. I've used the same stylist for my whole life, Monica Rose. I'm always with her, getting rid of my clothes and starting over. It's fun. But every time the paparazzi catch me, I'm always straight out of bed in my sweats!

Who's your biggest style icon?

To keep it in the family, I love Kim and Kanye's style. They definitely inspire me. North probably inspires me the most, but Kim and Kanye – I'm obsessed with their style! Kim's always in the latest stuff, so I always look to her for advice.

What's your favourite make-up look?

Everyone thinks I have one specific lip colour but I have ten different nudes. So just a nude lip colour. And I can't live without my strip lashes. But girls are most beautiful when they're not really wearing anything. I think it's really pretty when I see girls wearing no make-up.

How do you keep your skin looking so good?

I use a lot of scrubs. I like to use lavender ones before bed because it calms me. Taking your make-up off before you go to bed is good, and using sunscreen on your hands and face. Khloé always told me to put sunscreen on my hands because you can tell someone's age from their hands.

Do you eat healthily?

It's a huge benefit to drink a lot of water, and I drink a lot of pressed juice. There was this article recently about a girl who drank an excessive amount of water for a month and she looks ten years younger!

What's your fitness routine like?

I haven't worked out for two years! It's really bad. I'm going to start this month for health reasons. I feel like all the food I eat is catching up with me as I get older.

What's your ideal pampering day?

I love pampering days! I usually take a shower or bath for about two hours and scrub my whole body. I love lotions – whole yogurt lotions are amazing – and masks. And I put coconut oil in my hair.

What's in the works for this year?

I'm moving out, so that's awesome. Other than that I don't really know... You'll have to wait and see!

Why did you decide to become a brand ambassador for Nip + Fab?

Someone was using their products at a photo shoot – the Dragon's Blood Fix – and I just fell in love. ■

STAR'S FASHION TEAM GIVES ITS VERDICT ON THIS WEEK'S OUTFITS

Yawn! Another black dress on Kate. The feather shrug adds a touch of interest, but not enough to make it a look that we love. We want to see more colour – this all-black look is getting old.

Fashion fave Nicola dazzles in this pink sequin dress, and boy do we love it! The vintage Norma Kamali number teamed with a stunning pair of bow shoes have us swooning with envy.

Oh dear, Daisy – what happened? This Dior suit is ill-fitting, the colour is drab and what's with the white vest? We love the classic heels and little croc clutch, but it's a shame about the rest.

The singer has stepped away from her usual raunchy style with this underwhelming Adam Selman combo and Manolo Blahnik shoes. Get back to your cool, edgier self, Ri-Ri!

Beauty buzz!

OH MY GLOSS!

Rita Ora's latest collection with Rimmel is so hot right now! The Voice mentor has stayed true to her strong image and created a bright, fun collection of festival-ready polishes and lip-loving glosses enriched with argan oil. "I really love my lipgloss," she reveals. "Before I put it on I use a cherry-coloured lip liner to give it staying power." Find the range at Superdrug, priced from £2.99.

KATE'S EYE APPEAL

With one selling every five seconds, we're not surprised that Urban Decay's cult Naked palette, £38, is the Duchess of Cambridge's go-to eye enhancer. A pal says Kate "relies on the eyeshadow palette" now she knows what looks good on camera. And with 12 neutral shades, it's paparazzi perfect!

ALL WHITE NOW

Freshen up your nails for spring with Nails Inc's White Collection, £14 each. As seen on style maven Alexa Chung, these four polishes come in pretty pastel colours. Our fave is icy mint Swan Street – gorgeous!

BRUSH WITH GREATNESS

If there's one secret behind great make-up, it's great brushes. Now B. has created a new range that's vegan and purse-friendly. Priced from £5.99, the soft fibres make applying powder a dream. We love the blusher and contour brush, £8.99, for creating shading worthy of a Kardashian.

TRIED AND TESTED EYEBROW PENCILS

NARS BROW PERFECTOR
£16.50

This has a lovely velvety texture. It's good for blending a soft brow – but not for creating more precise lines.

RIMMEL PROFESSIONAL EYEBROW PENCIL
£2.99

Great value. This pencil has a firm texture and creates the perfect arch, plus it has a handy brush on the lid.

SOAP & GLORY ARCHERY 2-IN-1 BROW FILLING PENCIL & BRUSH

This has a very fine tip that is quite dry, but it gives a natural look and has a great mascara-like wand to tidy hairs.

Wonderful for glamorous brows, this is a good dense pencil and includes a tinted gel to set the shape.

'I'll get healthier for LA'

Fitness-loving WAG Alex Gerrard reveals why she wants to up her game in the States

Alex Gerrard overhauled her lifestyle and got super fit in 2013. But when we chat, she says she's planning to step it up even more once she moves to LA with footballer hubby Steven and daughters Lilly-Ella, 11, Lexie, eight, and three-year-old Lourdes.

The 32-year-old also reveals how she feels about her body as a mum and why she can't live without her chocolate...

Hi Alex! Do you find it hard to fit in exercise as a mum of three?

I try to get it out of the way first thing because it is hard to fit it in when you have so much going on. If I left it until the evening I don't think I would stick to it as much.

What sort of training do you do?

I think it's important to mix it up so you shock your body as it can get used to the same exercises. I do a bit of running, about three miles. I also like boxing and squats. I'll work out three to four times a week.

Do you and Steven ever work out together?

Not really. I do it on my own or with my trainer.

How healthy is your diet?

I'm quite healthy. I'm always watching my portions and making sure it's quite low carb, and I like juicing sometimes. But I think it's good to have everything in moderation. What treat couldn't you live without?

Alex regularly works out

I love chocolate! I always pick at it as Steven and the kids are always eating it. When I'm trying to be good I will cut it out for a week or two, but most nights I have a bit of chocolate with a cuppa after my dinner.

From one to ten, how body confident do you feel now?

At the moment, not the best! I'm probably about a six because my routine has been a bit stop and start.

What's your go-to outfit to feel body confident?

Probably leather leggings, a blazer and a nice T-shirt. I always feel comfortable in them because I feel covered but they're also flattering.

Are you excited about moving to Los Angeles?

Yes, I'm really excited. I'm just looking forward to getting over

With Steven and their girls

there now. I'm hoping to be a lot healthier because everyone is really into it there. Maybe some hikes in the hills! Why do you use iron supplement Spatone? I've always struggled with my energy levels and now I do a lot of training, so it gives me that extra boost. ■

Sydney's iconic Opera House on the harbour

Sydney

Beautiful beaches meet culture in this bustling Australian city

On a shoestring

With the breathtaking harbour, historical buildings and beautiful beaches, Sydney is easily one of the greatest cities in Australia. And for a metropolis full of tourists, there's a surprising amount of free ways to sightsee...

Explore You really can't beat the 3km cliff-top Bondi to Bronte walk for taking in Sydney's natural beauty. Starting at popular Bondi Beach, you'll walk around the stunning coastline and past beautiful beaches like Tamarama. If you want to explore further, the walk goes on to Coogee Beach.

Near the harbour, the Royal Botanic Gardens are the perfect setting for a picnic, and it costs nothing to stroll through the pretty grounds. They offer free tours, too.

Sydney has great weekend markets, from checking out the gourmet eats at Eveleigh Market to browsing through vintage bargains at Paddington Markets, along the popular shopping strip.

For culture and fine-art lovers, the Art Gallery NSW is free, and there are free talks and films on certain days (artgallery.nsw.gov.au).

Luna Park, the historic fun park right on the harbour, charges nothing to get in, but be mindful that it is $10 (£5) per ride – which can quickly add up!

Eat For every pricey restaurant in the city, there's an equally affordable option – and you won't have to compromise on quality or location. With the harbour on its doorstep, Opera Bar, beneath the iconic Opera House, is a picturesque place to sit and uncork a bottle of wine. They've got free live music every night and on weekend afternoons, too (mains from $18, operabar.com.au).

Stay Checking into budget accommodation a five-minute walk away from Sydney's prime waterfront is possible with Sydney Harbour YHA (yha.com.au). This spacious, modern hostel is the only one in the historical area of The Rocks, and it has two major appealing features – the price tag and the location. Close to the city centre and busy Circular Quay area, rooms start from $46 per person per night, and the rooftop boasts stunning views across the water.

Splurge

If this is your first time to Sydney and you've got cash to splash, there are some places and experiences you can't miss...

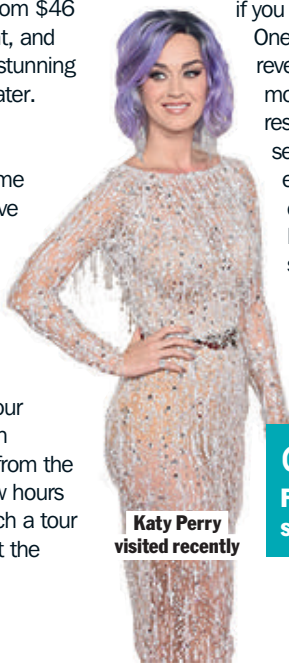

Explore The Harbour Bridge Climb has an unmatched view from the top. Set aside a few hours for the walk, in which a tour guide will talk about the history of the bridge while you admire the impressive views of the harbour. Climbs start from $148 per person (bridgeclimb.com).

With Sydney Harbour as a backdrop, Taronga Zoo in Mosman is undoubtedly one of the most scenic zoos you will have visited. Take the short ferry ride from Circular Quay to the zoo and ride the cable up to the top to start your day exploring. Check out the Australian enclosures to see native animals, like the quokka (entry costs $46, taronga.org.au).

Eat Neil Perry's Spice Temple (rockpool.com) is a must visit if you like Asian cuisine.

One of Australia's most revered chefs, Perry's modern Chinese restaurant delivers a sensational culinary experience – Kung Pao chicken and fried squid, Hong Kong Typhoon style, are standout dishes. The exotic décor adds to the experience (mains from $22-$55).

Stay in style at QT Sydney

Stay Smack bang in the middle of the city with Pitt Street Mall, Hyde Park and the Queen Victoria Building close by, the QT Sydney boutique hotel is a unique place to stay. Quirky in nature and eclectic, yet sleek in décor, the QT is unlike any other city hotel.

The rooms are amazing – stylish, spacious bathrooms with his 'n' hers facilities, hardwood polished floors in the bedroom and contemporary furniture throughout. They even leave you a cocktail shaker, ingredients, recipe and glasses to make enough espresso martini for two! Rooms start from $280 per night, based on two sharing (qtsydney.com.au).

If you've had a long day wandering around and want to stay close for dinner, the hotel's Gowings Bar & Grill is a top choice. Similarly, if you need some rest and relaxation after hours of sightseeing, SpaQ is the hotel's answer to pure pampering. ■

Your vital guide: what to listen to and watch...

SINGLE Jamie Foxx ft Chris Brown You Changed Me

He acts, he sings, he tells jokes. He probably makes a lovely cup of tea, too. Fantastic Mr Foxx has taken time out from Hollywood to make a new album, of which this silk-smothered R&B tune is sure to be a highlight. Jamie and Chris sound good together as they bust out lyrics about settling down, being faithful and having kids. Now you don't hear that every day. ★★★

FILM Cinderella (U)

Stars: Lily James, Cate Blanchett, Helena Bonham Carter

Making a live action version of a 1950s cartoon is as difficult as hitting the dancefloor in glass slippers – but Disney have pulled it off magnificently. The studio has its mojo back after Frozen, and there is more than a dash of the magic from that icy hit in this (don't worry, parents, there's no singing).

Downton Abbey actress James takes a turn below stairs as the downtrodden Cinderella, bullied into mop duties by her stepsisters, who try to bar her from the royal ball. But – spoiler alert, folks – she makes it, thanks to a scene-stealing Bonham-Carter as the Fairy Godmother, which puts her well on the way to her happy ever after with Prince Charming (Richard Madden).

So far, so familiar. However, the real star here is Blanchett as the snarling stepmother, who stomps around in a leopard-print dressing gown, hosting poker tournaments. All round brilliant entertainment.

Verdict: A charming remake for the Frozen generation. ★★★★

FILM The Face Of An Angel (15)

Stars: Daniel Brühl, Kate Beckinsale, Cara Delevingne

All eyes are on Cara in this fictionalised film about the 'Foxy Knoxy' case that followed the murder of British student Meredith Kercher in 2007. Or rather, this is a film about a film. Brühl plays tortured director Thomas Lang, who comes to Italy to shoot the case. It's painfully slow stuff. But what we all want to know is whether Cara is any good as Emily, a student who befriends Thomas. And the answer is yes. Those eyebrows are destined for even greater things – even if this dreary film isn't. Verdict: An Angel with very little delight. ★★

FILM Get Hard (15)

Stars: Will Ferrell, Kevin Hart

We love Ferrell, but some of the ideas behind this film are dubious at best. He plays James King, a millionaire guilty of fraud, who pays the one black person he knows to toughen him up for the hard knocks and gay sex he's convinced await him behind bars. Hart, fresh from roasting Justin Bieber, does well as Darnell, who goes along with King's racist assumption that he's done time. In fact, most of the laughs here come from the skill of these performers, rather than the groansome premise.

Verdict: Get Hard-er working scriptwriters. ★★★

ALBUM Rebecca Ferguson Lady Sings The Blues

She tumbled out of 2010's X Factor star factory with One Direction, so Rebecca Ferguson is probably used to being overshadowed. However, she has one of the strongest voices ever to grace the Cowell circus and this third album proves it once and for all. Here, she belts out classics by late US jazz legend Billie Holiday, who would have turned 100 next month. All Of Me, Embraceable You and God Bless The Child are the best of a brilliant bunch. ★★★★

'Michelle is my fitness inspiration!'

Rebecca Callard reveals how her Ordinary Lies co-star encouraged her to shape up

You may not immediately recognise Rebecca Callard, but if her face looks a little familiar, it's because her mum is Coronation Street legend Beverley Callard, aka Liz McDonald.

Rebecca, 38, is starring in new BBC One drama Ordinary Lies, alongside Michelle Keegan and Jason Manford, so we caught up with her to find out about her new role and what it's like being the daughter of a soap icon...

Hi Rebecca! What was it like filming Ordinary Lies?

It was so much fun. I've made a whole new bunch of friends.

Who was funniest on set?

Jason's really funny. He had everyone laughing – he has some great anecdotes. He's brilliant.

What's Michelle like?

She's worked with my mum so we had a connection already, and I'd met her briefly as I did nine episodes of Corrie. Now we've become good friends. We had a lot of down time to drink tea and she would make fun of my dresses! She's really down to earth, she's not starry at all. She's very dedicated and works really hard.

Is she keeping fit for her upcoming wedding?

She's inspired me to get fit. She would do a full day's filming then go to the gym. I've now joined but I'm nearly 40 and I've had two kids, so it's not as easy to keep the weight off.

Tell us about your character, Grace...

She's a bit of an outsider, a misfit. She's eccentric and quirky and wears 1950s-style dresses and red lipstick. I wanted to keep all my stuff! What I love about the series is the characters are people we can all relate to, but who turn out to be not quite what you expect.

Did your mum inspire you to become an actress?

My first acting job was when I was eight and I did a feature film with my mum way before she did Coronation Street, so it was how I grew up. When she went into Corrie, when I was 14, it was just another job.

Was it hard for you to follow in her footsteps?

I often do jobs and people don't know who my mum is. We have different careers – she's been supportive of mine and I have with hers. She's such an icon, she's a really brilliant actress.

You played Fiz's prison pal, Ruth Walsh. Would you like to return to Corrie one day?

Never say never! It would be nice. I don't know if that character could come back but it would be nice to revisit as someone else. ■

'I've got a crush on most people'

Ordinary Lies* actor Shazad Latif reveals what he really thinks of co-star Michelle Keegan and the biggest whopper he's ever told ...

Hi Shazad! How did you find filming Ordinary Lies?

There was a great vibe on set and everyone got along really well.

Did you enjoy working with Michelle Keegan?

She was a great laugh and a great girl. Have I got a crush on her? I've got a crush on most people!

Who was the funniest person on set?

Jason Manford. He's a great actor too. I did a couple of scenes with him, including the big wedding scene when we were all meant to be pissed.

How tricky is it pretending to be hammered?

You just get a little bit drunk to make it easier!

Will you watch yourself back? I don't like watching myself. It's strange, but you do it anyway.

With his Second Best Marigold Hotel co-stars

What's the biggest lie you've told?

I lied at drama school so I could go to a Bruce Springsteen concert. I said I had to go to my great-aunt's funeral, but she'd already passed away. ■

CSI: Crime Scene Investigation

9.55pm, Channel 5

Here's a face you won't be expecting to see in this week's CSI—Sharon Osbourne! The former X Factor judge pops up in tonight's episode as the CSI team investigates the bizarre death of a man who was killed not once, but twice. A case of hit-and-run is brought to the team's attention when their victim, who at the time of his death was covered in dirt, had been injured before the car accident. So following the trail of blood their victim had left behind, they retrace his steps and eventually discover that he'd been accidentally buried alive! It seems someone had thought their victim was dead and that same person had buried the victim to hide what they'd done. The only hitch was that he was still breathing. Morgan manages to connect the dead man to a new kind of pool game that's become very popular in Las Vegas, involving players making their shots without disturbing the many champagne glasses set up on the pool table. And Sharon pays a visit to Elise Massey, the manager of the pool hall who has rubbed a few people up the wrong way. But not only is she running the pool hall, she's pushing the female pool players as prostitutes as well! ★★★★★

Mr Selfridge

9pm, ITV

It's the last episode of the series tonight but fear not, it's been recommissioned for another run. Tonight, Harry gets ready for the board meeting as a nervous Crabb reveals that profits aren't up as much as they'd hoped. When Loxley humiliates Harry for his business methods, he reveals that the board is proposing a vote of no confidence in him as chairman. So in a battle of wits, Harry begins a strong defence that sees Loxley come unstuck and looking weak in defeat. It gives Harry a much-needed confidence boost so he announces news of his engagement to his family – and word quickly spreads in store – but Nancy's not comfortable with it as she's even more exposed now. But will she come clean and admit that she isn't who she says she is? Meanwhile, she ploughs ahead with work on the Selfridge Estate, but Gus is losing his confidence in it all. Hearing that Prince Carol of Romania is in town, Elsa suggests to Victor that they run a private gambling evening to capitalise on his mega spending and keep Regan off their back. Elsewhere, Mr Grove is shocked when Miss Mardle resigns and Crabb urges him to make amends. ★★★★★

NEW SERIES

Travel Man: 48 Hours in Barcelona

8.30pm, Channel 4

Channel 4's favourite geek, Richard Ayoade, manages to combine his love of gadgets with travel in this new series that starts tonight. He is being sent off around the world to visit places ranging from Iceland and Barcelona to Istanbul and Marrakech. While he's there, he'll be challenging himself to see and do as much as possible. But funnyman Richard isn't travelling alone. Each week he invites a different celebrity travel companion – including Adam Hills, Jessica Hynes and Stephen Mangan – to jet off with him. The celebs won't have much time to kick back and relax however, as Richard will be treating each trip with ruthless efficiency. And with no faffing around allowed, his aim is to get maximum holiday value in minimum time. Using ingenious gadgets and apps to help him see and do as much as possible, each jaunt will be a fast-paced, madcap adventure. But will the celeb companions be able to keep up with Richard's super-speedy approach to the trip? Or will they try to convince him to take on a slower, more relaxing attitude? In tonight's first episode, Richard travels to Barcelona accompanied by comedienne Kathy Burke. ★★★★★

Modern Family

Luckily, a stand-in son is already waiting in the wings in the shape of the rather drippy Andy. DCI Banks

9pm, ITV

It's bad news for fans of top cop Banks because next week is the last episode of the series. So make the most of your weekly fix with tonight's story. It involves the body of university undergraduate Josh Tate which is found dumped in a ravine, stabbed with a weapon like a screwdriver. His flatmate Spencer tells the police that Josh was the quiet type and that he last saw his pal heading off to his part-time job at the uni lab. As the team pieces together his movements, a picture emerges of another Josh, who was infatuated with his friend's girlfriend Melanie and was making ecstasy for club owner Fallon with the help of his biochemistry tutor. Meanwhile, Helen is concerned with the arrival of former lover Martin Hexton, an undercover cop who claims to be working on a case in Yorkshire, just as her husband Michael reveals he wants custody of their kids. Evidence seems to point to Fallon as Josh's murderer and the team head to arrest him but, breaking into his flat, they find him badly beaten and it looks like Hexton might be to blame. This leaves Banks furious with Helen for not revealing the full extent of her relationship with Hexton. ★★★★★

The Face Australia

8pm, Sky LIVING

When The Face launched in the USA in 2013, it was supposed to rival America's Next Top Model. It didn't quite turn out like that but it's still going – unlike the British version. The series set on our shores was axed after just one series due to poor ratings. Now, Naomi Campbell is taking her project to the other side of the world – Australia – and she's hired fellow models and mentors Cheyenne Tozzi and Nicole Trunfio to give her a hand. The idea is to find a brand new, unheard of model and launch their career with a bang as the face of a skincare line for Olay. Each judge has a team of models which is narrowed down each week as other judges decide who will stay and who will go. So expect tears, tantrums and fierce competition (and that's just the judges) as teams of fresh-faced beauties are given a roller coaster ride through the highs and lows of modelling, complete with demanding photo shoots, killer catwalk shows and harsh criticism. In the first episode, the mentors get their claws out as they choose their teams. For 24 contestants, it's a steep learning curve about how harsh the world of modelling is when half are immediately sent packing! ★★★★★

Scandal

10pm, Sky LIVING

If you think this series has had more twists and turns than a snake fighting with a slinky, you ain't seen nothing yet. In tonight's action-packed episode, the bidding for possession of Olivia continues. As the gladiators fight to save their guvnor, the White House fears they may be forced to lose her for good. Meanwhile, Mellie turns to Elizabeth for help. ★★★★★

NCIS: New Orleans / NCIS

9pm / 10pm, Channel 5

In the first of tonight's crime double, the New Orleans team investigates the murder of Commander Wilson, who is found dead in his car with a sharp object through his chest and an empty silver locket in his possession. But following the trail back to his home, they find a second body – his assistant Becca. Realising Wilson's wife Katherine is probably a potential target, Pride takes her into protective custody and soon stops an attempt on her life. And when she remembers her husband was supposed to be meeting a fellow tech liaison officer, Brody and

LaSalle set off to question him – only to find he's been murdered too! After we're done in New Orleans, the NCIS team have a tricky case on their hands with the death of Sgt Michael Dawson, who was caught in the crossfire after a robbery in a shop went pear-shaped. But it turns out his death was no accident and the investigation leads them to a man whom Dawson had sponsored in a Narcotics Anonymous programme. While at the scene, Gibbs discovers that his dad has been involved in a car crash and he wants to be taken to the bedside of an old war pal. ★★★★★

60 Seconds with

Matt Richardson

Comedian Matt Richardson, 23, on Googling himself despite the haters and his beef with Iggy Azalea...

What's your most treasured possession?

My car, because without it I couldn't work. My Punto just failed its MOT but it gave me an excuse to buy a new one.

What's your Plan B?

If it all fails now I'd love to manage comedians and presenters. I was good at getting myself gigs when I started out, so I'd like to do it for other people.

When did you last cry?

Just before Christmas. I was going through a break-up [from Ashley James] and had a bit of cry because I'm a girl.

Have you ever been starstruck?

When I was 18 I was in a competition Tim Minchin was judging and I was completely starstruck. Meeting him meant the world to me.

Who's the rudest celeb you've met?

Iggy Azalea is an arsehole. I did Never Mind The Buzzcocks with her – she barely spoke to anyone and just looked at her phone. She's a bit of a knob.

Have you ever said, "Do you know who I am?"

I do it to my friends occasionally or tell them to email my agent to arrange a coffee, but only for a laugh. I find it funny and they all think I'm an idiot anyway!

What's on your bucket list?

I'd love to sell out the New Theatre in Oxford and getting a mortgage would be really nice. I've just been to Thailand, which is something I've always wanted to do, so I've ticked that one off now.

Do you have a secret talent?

I'm not bad at magic. I used to do it at kids' parties when I was 13, and when I was 18 I would do it to impress girls, which of course was an awful idea!

Where's your favourite place?

I love Edinburgh and Bristol but it has to be my hometown, Didcot. I love going back there.

Who are the most famous celebs in your phone contacts?

Sharon Osbourne and Gary Barlow, whose numbers I got when I was doing The Xtra Factor.

Do you ever Google yourself?

All the time – I'm obsessed! It's awful. You find horrible things really quickly but I can't stop myself.

When were you at your happiest?

This time last year. I was having a nice time and I was on my first tour.

What annoys you?

People who play with their phone when you go out for dinner. I just think it's horrendously rude.

What's your favourite film?

Either Con Air or Life Of Brian. Con Air is utterly ridiculous but it's so fun I probably watch it about four times a year.

What's your life mantra?

None of it is real. I work in a weird industry and it's easy to get swallowed up and take it really seriously. It's important to remind myself that it's actually mental and hilarious. ■
